Groupe Gorgé announces the sale of several naval simulators to a major Asian navy

ECA Group has just won a major contract to supply naval simulators to the Navy of an Asian country.

ECA Group will supply several naval simulators that will enable sailors at all levels to become familiar with the tactical procedures and sensor settings thanks to the use of complex and realistic scenarios in a completely secure training environment.

The anti-submarine warfare (ASW) system and the sonar simulator provided to this customer represent a high-end system that will be used for the tactical training of crews as part of the simulation of operations likely to require surface vessels, submarines and helicopters.

Thanks to its recognised expertise in the naval simulation market, ECA Group was able to present its customer with a comprehensive solution perfectly in line with the training and assessment requirements of its crews, and which includes the design, delivery, training and customer service associated with these simulators.

Groupe Gorgé and its subsidiary ECA Group join the EnterNext© PEA-PME 150 index

On Wednesday, 5 November, EnterNext - a subsidiary of Euronext dedicated to the promotion and development of medium and intermediate companies (SMEs and ETIs) - announced on its website the indicative composition of the EnterNext© PEA-PME 150 index, a new benchmark added to the family of Euronext indices dedicated to companies eligible for PEA-PME accounts.

This new index could be used as a true benchmark by major management companies and will offer better visibility and liquidity to listed SMEs and ETIs.

The index will be launched on 17 November. The weight of each value and the comprehensive index rules will be available on the Euronext website on 17 November.
